About Resonant

Resonant are a 5 piece Metal band based in Waterford, Ireland. The band began life 2002 under the name Ditch, and after the departure of the original singer the band decided to rename the band, and change the style of music from hard rock to heavier metal style. As the years went on Resonant played numerous gigs up and down Ireland recording a demo in 2005 and went on to play in front of over 60,000 people at the spraoi festival in Waterford in 2006. However in early 2007 the band decided to call it a day after original bassist moved away and a few other things preventing the band from rehearsing as much and playing live. But over two years later, in June of 2009, the band reformed and began gigging again.
